Tecmilenio's Educational Model is unique in the world. Its three major differentiators are: Learning by doing. Our students learn practical skills as our teachers have experience in the industry. Additionally to our laboratory infrastructure, students immerse in a business semester and develop a project in a company, as a result, they acquire practical experience to complement the theoretical training in classrooms.

Personalized educational experience.

Students can choose part of their academic program according to their interests through certificates; thus they ensure that their studies are aligned to their personal interests, fulfilling their life purpose.

The best place to study and prepare to be happy: A person with a well-defined life purpose is a satisfied human being. Our students take Positive Psychology courses that contribute to the discovery, planning, and achievement of their life purpose. In addition, the University promotes a wellbeing and happiness ecosystem for all members of our community.
